

IDEA

Civic Participation in Peace Building and Democratic Development: Nepal Case Study

The author describes two civic education programs that International IDEA, along with the Nepalese society, has implemented in that Asian nation: the Constitution Information Centers and the Civic Participation in Peace Building and Democratic Development Initiative. She also describes the challenges during the implementation of the programs, the results (with some testimonies of the people who participated in the projects) and the future challenges for the programs.